Hello from Force Science,

We hope you are finding the Force Science Certification Course interesting and useful!

A couple of quick things:

– Attached you will find a pdf of slides related to Dr. Christine Hall's presentation that was given remotely today.

– After the class is completed I'll be sending you information on the "Advanced Force Science Specialist" program, an intensive 10-week course conducted mostly via video chat where you can participate from your office or home, that you are qualified to apply for as a Certification Course graduate. The next program begins with a one-day orientation class on November 1 at our training center in Chicago so I wanted to give you a heads up should you want to pursue inclusion in this course. More to come...

Thanks.

Scott
